REAT BLOOD PURIFIER!

ERY PROGRESSIVE SCIENCE PERIODS AR-NGES THE WORLD to furnish anything from of Esculapius down to the present time, to the f Medical Science, which can vie with or stand sic properties of this Great Blood Purifier. It been tested with the happiest effect in the most e cases of Scrofula, that baffled the skill of the inent physicians in the world. No matter what e dreadful disease of SCROFULA and KING'S may have assumed, it can in no way be more safely ably arrested in its progress than by HENLEY'S BLOOD PURIFIER. Thousands have been swept ir graves, who had they made a timely use of the AIN OF LIFE, might now be enjoying the bless-life and health. It requires an article of real d intrinsic value to sustain itself. During the ideal of public experiment the FOUNTAIN OF has stood the test trial, and not been found wanting.
Dr. HENLEY guarantees to CURE any case of ULA or KING'S EVIL in the world, and eradicate ase entirely from the system, or no charge made

Horrible Diseases.

many thousands of persons, both male and fe-are there who are suffering out a miserable exist-from the effects of secret indulgences, or from vice ed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciadisfigured faces and their broken-down constitu-disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation they suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, ans, friends, attend to those who are suffering with these horrible life-destroying maladies as they be cured for and cured before it be too late. Seek immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has private disease his especial study for years, and who aim to cure the most inveterate cases without mer-any injurious drugs. It is important to those are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the e of their friends, to be careful of the many pre-doctors who infest all cities, publishing their ng all of us in a few days, imposing upon the by using the names of eminent physicians from and otherpieces. Be therefore careful and make inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of these

The University
HOMESTEAD ASSOCIATION

THE LANDS OF THE ABOVE-NAMED ASSOCIAtion are situated in San Francisco and are eligibly and most desirably located, adjoining the grounds purchased by the Presbyterian University Society, on which College buildings are to be at once erected. The site is less than thirty minutes ride from Montgomery street; lying just west or back of the lands of the South San Francisco Homestead and Railroad Association and the Bay View Park, almost within a stone's throw of ST. MARY'S COLLEGE.

The tract will require little or no grading, there being scarcely a single lot on which it would not be desirable to build without any change of grade. It commands a Beautiful View of the Bay,

And its opposite shore, and his a soil of extreme richness. So great are the natural attractions of the spot that very many of the wealthy citizens of San Francisco have already purchased whole blocks in the same tract, and design building residences thereon.

The Rev. E. Thomas, D. D.,

Is President of the Association; Lester L. Robinson, formerly Vice President of the Sacramento Railroad Company, is the Treasurer, and Thomas R. Lewis, formerly of Portland, Secretary.

Four lots, 25x100 feet each, constitute a share, costing $300—paid in monthly installments of $10 each, after the first payment of $20 has been made.

Maps and books giving full information of the workings of the Association can be obtained at the store of J. L. PARRISH & CO.

It is an easy and a cheap way for young men to procure property which will in a few years make them independent.

FROM IDAHO.

A letter from Silver City (May 6th) to the Boise Statesman gives the following:

ATTEMPT TO ASSASSINATE A. P. MINEAR.

The quiet of our community was again disturbed last evening by the attempted assassination of A. P. Minear, while on his way to his residence about half a mile above Silver City. He started home about ten o'clock and had reached a point above the Cosmos mill, when he was surrounded by some half a dozen men, and a hand-to hand fight commenced, which resulted in his being shot in two places, besides being severely pummeled, before he made his escape. In the struggle he succeeded in taking a six-shooter from the leader of the party, and, as he thinks, wounded him, as he commenced firing immediately upon him and the rest of the gang, who dispersed long enough to allow him to drop down into the creek, and by floating with the current, to escape further injury, although the party hunted up and down the stream a long time to find him. After remaining in the water and snow about two hours he finally dragged himself to the Cosmos mill, almost exhausted from the loss of blood and the intense cold he had suffered while lying in the water. Although suffering very much from his wounds, it is thought he will recover.

ANOTHER MAN SHOT.

About the time of the Minear fight, or perhaps a little later, a man named Doak was found lying in the street badly shot through the shoulder. As he had a difficulty during the day with Jack Redman, in which it is alleged some threats where made by both parties, it is charged that Redman did the shooting, although no evidence exists of the fact. Redman was arrested and will probably be examined to-day.

INDIAN EXCITEMENT.

To add to the general consternation of the evening news came about the same time that a band of twenty or thirty Indians had made their appearance on Catharine creek, causing some men that were engaged in herding cattle and appropriating the stock to their own use. This of course added fuel to the flame, and parties here interested in cattle soon equipped fifteen or twenty men and started them out on the war path during the night.

The Statesman adds editorially:

There is another account concerning the shooting of Doak, given by parties who come over on the stage. It is said that Doak can give no account whatever of how he was shot or who did it. He only says that he found himself lying in the street wounded, and that he had been dragged. The suspicion is that Doak was one of the party that attacked Minear, which is supported by the fact that he is wounded in the same place where Minear says he shot one of the men after he got the revolver.

STILL ANOTHER MAN SHOT BY INDIANS.

We learn from passengers that about the time the stage passed Babbington's this morning the following news came in from those Catharine creek Indians: It appears that the settlers on Reynolds' creek were aware that Indians were prowling around by the signs they had seen, and a small party started from Babbington's yesterday to find them. By some means a man named Knight and Sam. or Cy. Polk became separated from the party, and in a rocky canyon on Rabbit creek were surrounded by eight mounted Indians and a number of others on foot, who fired upon them from behind rocks, breaking both Mr. Knight's legs and wounding him in the wrist. It was impossible to get away, so they kept themselves hid behind the rocks, and Polk kept firing at an Indian as often as he could see one. They stayed there all last night, and this morning early the Indians being gone, Polk came back to Babbington's. As the stage left men were going out after Mr. Knight.

HIGH WATER.

Litell's bridge across the Boise, nine miles above Boise City, was swept away yesterday morning, and all the ferries above this place are impassable. Several parties Lemhi-bound went up yesterday morning to cross and were obliged to return. McClellan's ferry, opposite town, is yet in running order, and appears to work with perfect safety. The prospect now is good for higher water than ever before known since the settlement of the country. We found on inquiry at the ferry yesterday that it is now higher than at any time last year, and within a few inches of being as high as two years ago. It is still rising, and the weather warm.

LEMHI.

Lemhi has broken out again. It is taking off a stream of prospectors all the while, and judging by the notes of preparation there will be a big rush organized in a few days. We hear of a large number preparing to leave Boise county in the course of a week. There is an occasional growl about the loss of population by this rush, but we fail to see anything wrong in it. A country that can't stand an exodus every year is not much of a country, and should be abandoned in haste. We have a better opinion of Idaho. We rejoice much at the flattering prospect of a good mining camp in the new diggings. It will swell the population of the Territory and quicken the pulse of business through all the southern counties.

FROM PUGET SOUND.

OLYMPIA, May 12th, 1867.

The town has been very lively and full of people the past week, consequent upon the attendance at Court, and particularly to hear the speaking of the two candidates for delegateship and the Hon. S. Garfield. Crowds of people from this and the adjoining counties, and hundreds from the milling towns on the Lower Sound, were here on Saturday. The steamers New World and Eliza Anderson brought numbers of passengers on Thursday night, the latter returning and bringing more on Friday night. The steamers Cyrus Walker, from Teekalet, the Resolute, from Port Madison, and the Colfax, from Seabeck, came on Saturday morning, all loaded with passengers. The Revenue Cutter also came up, and officers from Fort Steilacoom. The place has never been so crowded before, nor has any political excitement ever turned out the people as this canvass. The last three vessels are Union crafts, and well crowded with Union passengers, men, women and children. They were received with cheers by our citizens, the booming of cannon and the waving of flags. The speaking was listened to by hundreds, and crowds went away, who were unable to enter the capitol building to hear it. Of course, each candidate "done his level best," but as your correspondent did not hear it, he presents only a few "points" argued, and only the general verdict of those who were more fortunate. Mr. Clark delivered his set speech, with all the sophistry of a lawyer with a bad case, denouncing Union principles and men, glorifying Copperheadism and modern Democracy, sneering at laboring—particularly milling men, quoting bad anecdotes, and bragging to an unlimited extent. Mr. Flanders followed in a straightforward manner, setting forth the principles of his party, completely rebuking the treasonable and rebellious sentiments put forth by the opposing candidate. Mr. Garfield closed, and made one of the happiest efforts of his life, and it is presumed one of the best political efforts of oratory ever delivered upon the Pacific coast. Mr. G. left no copperhead stone unturned, from Mr. Clark down to the little editor of the Standard.

Sunday noon, the Walker returned, leaving the wharf with deafening cheers for Flanders and Garfield. She carried a large banner at the masthead, inscribed "Flanders," flags flying from every rope and halliard, and goes the Union cause from stem to stern. The Resolute returned Saturday evening, and the Colfax will leave on Monday.

The weather has been delightful for the excursionists; one of those pleasant, balmy May days we have all read about, but seldom see in a lifetime. It seems to have been gotten up especially for the occasion, in which nature always lends a helping hand to a good cause.

If there have been any doubts as to the actions of the people of Puget Sound, there need be none hereafter. They are Union to the bub, will go for a man of the people, and next June will roll up a majority for the favorite that will sh

The Daily Oregonian.

FRIDAY MORNING MAY 17 1867

A Voice from the Grave

Democracy out here is in a sadly benighted condition The party in Oregon is an immeasurable distance behind the party in the East and South which is about as forlorn and gloomy a condition to be in as could well be imagined. In other parts of the country, the party has got beyond the old ideas about the inferiority of the negro, the normal condition of the servile races,' etc, etc, and even the South is becoming reconciled to the loss of the peculiar institution But out here the good old doctrines of the times of Pierce and Buchanan are still cherished with the most devoted affection Seedy pilgrims from the border slave States who never were wealthy enough to own a slave and whose only idea through life has been that they are "better than a nigger," still lament the extinction of slavery, and still refuse to be comforted for their loss. An other class who are equally afflicted and whose distress is equally insurable, are those Northern men, chiefly Yankees by birth, who, possessing servile minds and guided by mean instincts, have always abased themselves before their political masters of the South, satisfied to be permitted to do their bidding, while cringing and fawning before them. These persons cannot give up their old habits and ideas. They cannot admit that the old relation is severed. They want things to be "normal" again. The emancipation of the negro checked and turned backward the smooth current of their happiness, and their only occupation now is to walk among the ruins of the past and mourn over what has been.

But there is yet one process by which they can obtain partial relief. They can still console themselves with the thought that notwithstanding he is called free, the negro is an inferior animal, that he belongs to a servile race, and that his normal condition is one of bondage. While Democrats in other parts of the country are paying court to the negro, congratulating him on his freedom and soliciting his vote, Democrats in Oregon are maintaining the ideas of the old South and gravely arguing in behalf of the defunct institution of slavery! Their newspaper press, of which the Herald is an example, continues to repeat the old pro slavery arguments and to employ the old pro-slavery nomenclature. In a late article, in the paper just named we find the terms "ruling race," "normal relations," "servile races of men," "unnatural position of equality," and other similar relics of the olden time. Labored arguments are offered to prove that slavery is the natural condition of the colored races, and the subject is pressed with all the earnestness and all the wisdom with which it was discussed years ago by those who founded a "Southern empire based upon this great philosophical idea." This argument is like a voice from the grave. It smells of mould, and bears evidences of its long interment The object of the person who has invaded the silence of the tomb and dragged this body from its place of sepulture is evidently to give it new life. The Oregon Democracy would revive and re-establish slavery. They expect to do it, else why this effort to prove that the relation is one which was designed by nature, which is supported by reason and which is demanded by necessity? It is truly melancholy to witness their endeavors to galvanize this body into life. Meantime their party brethren elsewhere are, with few exceptions, recognizing the changed condition of things, looking upon the negro as an equal instead of an inferior being fit only for servitude, associating with him without a thought of contamination and treating him with the liberality which the leaders of that party always show to those who have votes. Do the fossils of the old era of politics who speak for the Democratic party of Oregon suppose they can terrify anybody here with the outcry about "negro equality," when their party brethren elsewhere are scouting these ridiculous prejudices and "equalising" themselves with negroes? The negroes in Oregon number about one in a thousand of the population, in South Carolina they are a majority. If the Palmetto chivalry who boast they know so much about the negro, are not afraid of being degraded by such associations, does any person suppose that this farrago of nonsense about "negro equality" in Oregon can avail anything? The force of this prejudice is completely exhausted. To attempt to play upon it now is the silliest of all devices. A party that has nothing better or more effective than this, may as well close up business. The Democrats have used the negro as a goblin to frighten people quite as long as the process can accomplish anything. They who hope to resuscitate that party by arguing in favor of the excellence of slavery and by ringing the changes on the words "negro equality" have an interesting task before them.

Something More on a Very Small Subject.

It has been represented by several Democratic papers that Mr. O. Humason of the Dalles, against whom an action was recently brought in the United States District Court of a charge of bribery, was prosecuted because he had left the Union party, that when he wrote his letter to Henderson enclosing the deed for the town lots he was acting with that party, that no attention was paid to the matter until he resumed his connection with the Democracy, and that the action was then brought against him out of spite for his recusancy A very short statement of plain facts will put this whole story down. At the time Humason wrote the letter and executed the deed, he was not a member of the Union party and had not been for more than a year. He left that party early in 1864 for the same reason that induced several other Democrats to quit it, both before and after Humason's apostasy. Humason was a candidate before the Union Convention in 1864, for the nomination for Congress, and failing to get the office he immediately withdrew from the party The Union party, with its strongly developed "Radical Abolition" policy was good enough for him till he failed to get a nomination from it, when he instantly made the discovery, (we quote from the Democratic organ of this city) "that it was the old abolition disunion party in disguise," and returned to the Copperhead Democracy, hoping to fare better. The Union party never cared a fig for Humason, and no Union man ever deemed him important enough to make him an object of resentment on account of his defection He had no standing in the Union party as was evidenced by his failure to get the nomination he sought, and as no Union man had any confidence in him, no one cared for his going back to his own party The transaction which led to the late prosecution occurred in October, 1865, more than a year after he had quit the Union party, instead of sometime before, as the Democratic papers represent, so that if there had been any intention to "persecute" him on partisan grounds, the proceeding would have been commenced long before it was If he had been such a very formidable opponent as his admirers would make him, an earlier opportunity would surely have been taken for the prosecution. No disinterested person would say on reading his letter and the other evidence that the charge was preferred on partisan grounds.

Colonel Sprague, commanding the District of Florida, says the attempt to establish a colony of freedmen from South Carolina at New Smyrna, Florida is a failure About two hundred were taken there, but bad management, the want of supplies, and a prevalent disposition to impose upon the freedmen, induced them all to accept the opportunities offered to obtain work in the interior.

SALT LAKE May 16 —Stages will only make two trips per week from Cooper's creek to North Platte until the line is fully protected by the military The stage party had a skirmish with Indians on the night of the 13th and report the country full of Indians The railroad party was attacked on the same night one man killed and one badly wounded

Assault of Congressman Kelly.

NEW YORK May 15 —The Tribune and Herald's specials generally agree that the attack on Mr Kelly was evidently preconcerted and probably stimulated by an incendiary article in the Mobile Times and other papers Kelly had been speaking a quarter of an hour on temperance A number of persons were on the platform including eminent citizens and reporters The Chief of Police attempted to arrest the ringleader, who drew a pistol At most ally called on him to fire his friends dragging Kelly away and the crowd flying in all directions There was no attempt by the police to arrest any of the parties. It is explained that Swayne does not exercise power sufficiently under the military bill for the protection of the loyalists

CAPITAL STOCK, $1,000,000!

Directors:

LOUIS A. CARNETT.

LOUIS A CARNETT ..... President and Manager.
JOHN HEWSTON, Jr ....Chemist and Superintendent

THIS COMPANY HAVING GREATLY enlarged their Refining Works, and introduced many other important improvements, are pleased to announce that they feel warranted in again reducing materially their terms of doing business.

THE TARIFF OF CHARGES

Which they now submit to the public—considered with reference to the cost of material and labor—is lower than is any other part of the world, and secures to the mining interest of this coast an important increase in both the minting and commercial value of bullion

Their charges hereafter will be as follows:

FOR ASSAYING DEPOSITS FOR UNPARTED GOLD BARS.

One eighth of one per cent (heretofore a quarter) for all amounts over $1,000, and two dollars for any smaller sum. Returns made in twenty-four hours.

FOR ASSAYING DEPOSITS FOR UNPARTED SILVER BARS.

Two dollars for the gold contained, up to $1,500, and one-eighth of one per cent for all amounts over that sum, and one per cent. on the silver contained. Returns made in twenty four hours.

FOR REFINING DEPOSITS MADE FOR COIN OR FINE BARS.

On bullion under 300 parts gold, 2 cents per ounce
On bullion from 300½@600 parts gold, 4 cents per ounce,
On bullion from 600½@750 parts gold, 6 cents per ounce
On bullion from 750½@949½ parts gold, 8 cents per ounce

Above 950 the only charge will be for coining. But there will be no charge for refining less than two dollars.

FOR COINING GOLD.

This charge will be the same as at the Mint—a half of one per cent.—and which is paid by us to that institution But there will be no charge in future for making fine gold or silver bars from bullion refined by us

RETURNS IN COIN IN FORTY-EIGHT HOURS.

Silver contained in deposits for coin will be accounted for at the same rate customary at the Mint.

Gold bars of other Assayers, in good standing, will be cashed by us at the highest market rates.

Dust and bullion can be forwarded to us from any part of the country and returns made through Wells, Fargo & Co's Express.

CHARGES AT U. S BRANCH MINT.

For the convenience of those not familiar with the terms of the Mint we subjoin the tariff of charges now in force at that institution

For refining bullion under 300 parts gold, 3 cents per ounce

For refining bullion from 300½@600 parts gold, 6 cents per ounce

For refining bullion from 600½@750 parts gold, 7 cents per ounce

For refining bullion from 750½@830 parts gold, 11 cents per ounce.

For refining bullion from 830½@949½ parts gold, 14 cents per ounce

The charge for coinage is half of one per cent., and the charge for making fine silver bars, the same.

Comparing the net value of deposits for coinage, with the proceeds of unparted gold bars sold in the market—assuming that the bars have cost ½ of one per cent—they must be sold at the following par rates to equal the return which would have been made had they been deposited for coinage

860 par to equal Mint return, at refining charge of 14 cents

845 par to equal Mint return, at refining charge of 14 cents

837 par to equal San Francisco Assay & R Works return, at refining charge of 8 cents mh1d2p3m

PROCEEDINGS OF THE GRAND LODGE.—The proceedings of the Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F., yesterday, which are proper to be made public, were as follows: Several reports were received from the Committee on Credentials, and adopted. On motion, it was ordered that the secretary purchase two thousand copies of a tract on Odd Fellowship, published by the Grand Lodge of the United States, entitled "Odd Fellowship—What is it?" A charter was granted for a Lodge of Odd Fellows in East Portland. Upon a question submitted, it was decided that a duplicate visiting card can be issued by a subordinate lodge, where the original card has been lost or destroyed, upon proper evidence of such loss or destruction being furnished. Such duplicate must have the word "Duplicate" written across its face. A pending amendment to the constitution of the Grand Lodge, providing for apportionment of representatives from subordinate lodges, was adopted. It provides that each lodge may have one representative for its charter and one for every twenty-five members and one for each remaining fraction of the same, if over half that number, provided a lodge with a membership of less than half the basis of representation may, nevertheless, have one representative for its charter and one for its membership. The report of a committee expressing the opinion that a subordinate lodge has the right to appropriate lodge funds for any purpose which the lodge may deem "for the good of the order," was adopted. Several amendments to subordinate lodge constitutions, were offered and referred to the appropriate committees. The Committee on Appeals reported on all but two or three appeals, and their report was adopted. The following communication was received and read: "To the officers and members of the R. W. Grand Lodge of Oregon—Dear Sirs and Bros: You are respectfully invited to partake of a fraternal entertainment to be given in your honor, on to-morrow evening, Friday, May 17th, at 9 o'clock, at the American Exchange Hotel. Signed, Chas H. Marvin, Jas Buchanan, J. F. Bartle and W. W Spalding, Committee." On motion, the invitation was accepted. The Grand Lodge then adjourned till 9 A. M to-day

SUNDAY IN MONTANA.—The Montana Post of April 20th, has the following graphic description of a Sunday in the mines. Those who have been in a new mining region, will fully recognize the truthfulness of the picture.

Sunday, however, was beautiful. The Catholic, Episcopal and Methodist churches were largely attended, and the songs of praise were mingled with the voice of the lusty auctioneer as he dashed up and down the crowded street on the "best bargain ever offered on the gulch." It made rather an amusing dialogue at times, to listen to the minister and the auctioneer. Perhaps they did not notice it, but others did; for instance, imagine the following: "What shall I do to be saved?" "Buy a first rate saddle horse;" "What shall a man give in exchange for his soul?" "Only thirty-seven dollars," or, reversing the order, "How much do I bear for this horse?" "Seven buckets of fragments;" "Who wants to live forever?" "Dress in the torments of hell." During the afternoon a bit of a fight occurred in the street, by way of variety, in which one of the parties, in addition to getting his face badly damaged, was put in the calaboose to repent of his sins at leisure, which it is presumed he did, as he got down on his knees several times before reaching it. And so it is with us of a Sabbath day. The device and the drunkard side by side; religion and business; pleasure and profit; profanity and praise; wine and vice—intermingle and jostle each other as we all glide along the swift current of life, strewn with wrecks and filled with breakers.

THE ACCIDENT TO THE ENTERPRISE.—From Mr. McCully and Capt. Pease we learn that the smoke-stack of the steamer Enterprise, was not knocked down by an overhanging tree, satisfied to us by a passenger, but by a ferry rope across the river at Harrisburg. On her passage up the river the Enterprise passed under the rope with no notice to her return, just after dark and when all a sudden the rope began to stop. It was discovered that it had been lowered and that it would catch the smoke stack. The steamer was immediately shouted to one side and came quivering against the rope, which caught and carried away the smoke stack. It fell across the cabin stays or braces and went overboard. Had the rope been her direct course the smoke stack must have fallen out upon and crushed through the deck, into the cabin among the passengers. It was a narrow escape from disaster to human life and the presence of mind exhibited by the Captain was all that prevented inevitably serious consequences. The other accidents to the steamer, which we mentioned, occurred at various places along the river, and were such as must occasionally occur to any steamer of the, the very difficult waters of the upper Willamette.

A FIELD ABDUCTED AND RESCUED.—Some three or four years since a child of Thomas A. Bude, who lives on the Prairie, a few miles below Salem, was abducted by a man named F. H. Paden. At the time of the abduction, the mother of the child, which is about five years old, was at Salem and the father was absent on his house. On Wednesday, Dr. S. H. Pitzer, of Salem, who was in this city, received a telegram from Mr. Bude, informing him where the child was and requesting him to get out a writ of habeas corpus and recover it. Dr. Pitzer immediately went down to Sauvies Island, found the man Paden and the child, procured the possession of the latter and returned to the city yesterday. He will go to Salem on Saturday and restore the stolen child to its parents. It is a somewhat singular case, having details about it which are not proper matters for the public eye. It is quite probable that measures will be at once instituted to punish the child-stealer.

THE STEAMER JOHN H. COUCH.—This steamer has been laid up for some weeks undergoing repairs. She has been thoroughly overhauled, her cylinders newly bored and fitted with new valves, and some portions of her wood work renewed and repainted. She was out yesterday making a trial of the new parts which worked admirably, her wheels making twenty-eight revolutions per minute with seventy-five pounds of steam and everything working as smoothly as if worn to a perfect polish. She ran from the point opposite the Brooklyn Mills to the Sand Yard, a distance of about two miles in eight and a half minutes—a speed not often kept on these waters. The overhauling of the engines was done under the superintendence of Mr. John Gates. The Couch will, next week, take the place of the Okanagan on the route Astoria.

PETTY LARCENY.—In the Recorder's Court, yesterday, Jack Gilman was tried on a charge of petty larceny stealing a pair of boots from Adam Kessler. In the course of the trial, the evidence disclosed the fact that the larceny had committed in a dwelling house, which under our statute constitutes a felony. The charge of petty larceny was therefore dismissed and the defendant was held to answer to the charge of grand larceny and was committed to the county jail to await the action of the grand jury.

THE CASE against W. R. Hill, lodged by G. Mitchell, was settled between the parties, Hill paying the accrued costs.

LOUIS VAN TASSEL, for being drunk and lying on the sidewalk, was discharged, having been in jail one day.

"GRATUITOUS DISTRIBUTION."—The proprietors of the Pacific Museum of Anatomy, etc., advertises in one of our Oregon papers, that they "have determined, regardless of expense, to issue" certain valuable lectures "FREE, on receiving twenty-five cents in postage stamps." This would be an excellent arrangement if those who order the lectures could only be made to see that "twenty-five cents in postage stamps" cost nothing. Perhaps the "proprietors" are prepared to show how twenty-five cents can be obtained, FREE. This offer of the "proprietors" is worthy of the Yankee who, when candy was selling at a cent a stick, reduced the article to half price by selling "two sticks for a cent apiece."

THE BALL LAST NIGHT.—The ball given last evening by the members of Hassalo Lodge No. 15, I. O. O. F., was in all respects a success. There were about eighty-five ladies present when we called in for a few moments, 9 1/2 o'clock, and others were still arriving. The company seemed to be highly enjoying themselves in the merry dance. We can't tell how the people were dressed—we are not a Jenkins—but we do know that the supper was good, the supper elegant, the ladies looked fine, the gentlemen looked happy, the managers were attentive to everybody and so, everything, of course, was lovely.

AN APOLOGY.—Ye Local editor was awful mad yesterday morning to wake up and find that a careless printer had put up the name of I. R. Moores as "I. R. Moon," in the item about the Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows, and failed to make the correction marked in the proof-sheet. We owe an apology to either Mr. Moores or Mr. Moon. We don't know Mr. Moon; we do know Mr. Moores, and as he is present in the city and an able business man withal, we have concluded that we owe the apology to him. If Mr. Moon don't like this disposition of the matter he can have satisfaction, but nary an apology.

FAT CATTLE.—Mr. Thomas Cross, of Salem, informs us that he will drive into the city this morning about forty head of his fat cattle, some of which have taken first ...at the late State fairs. They will be on exhibition on No. 3 Stable on Front street, all day and if not sold will be shipped, to-morrow, down the river to be taken to Victoria, for sale. If our city butchers would but furnish their customers with some of the beef of these fat cattle, instead of the grisly, tough, muscular tribunes which they are wont to regale their customers, all the public would be benefitted and pleased.

CIRCUIT COURT—SHATTUCK, JUDGE.—The most of yesterday was taken up with the trial of the case of McKenzie vs. the City of Portland. Quite a number of the officers of the city were sworn and examined as witnesses and all the old papers, records, maps, etc., authorized or adopted by the city authorities in old times, were offered in evidence. It is a trial which proves many interesting reminiscences of the Portland of long ago. The case is continued till to-day.

A CASE OF SMUGGLING.—The city was thrown into a state of excitement, yesterday morning, by the arrest of a couple of our citizens on a charge of smuggling liquors from Victoria. The information was lodged by a man who pretends to know all about the matter and to have been a confederate in the smuggling. One or two of the parties implicated by the testimony of this individual are not yet arrested, and we, therefore, suppress all names for the present.

THE NEW POSTPONED.—The pic-nic excursion of Trinity Parish Sunday School, did not take place yesterday in consequence of unfavorable weather. It has been postponed till Saturday the 18th inst., on which ship children and others intending to participate in the exercises of the day, are requested to meet at the Sunday School room at half past eight o'clock in the morning

WILLAMETTE FREIGHTS.—Arrived per steamer Senator, from Oregon City, on Thursday, May 16th 20 half bbls pork, 8 bales woolen goods, 42 hlf bbls dried apples, 274 pieces bacon, 17 cases hams, 70 boxes apples, 585 qr sks flour, 342 bags wheat, 60 bags oats, 1 bale furs, 1 roll leather, 25 boxes eggs, 360 bags feed, and lot of flowers.

FOR KOOTS CITY.—On the arrival at Oregon City of the Senator, on Saturday morning, a boat will be dispatched for Eugene City and intermediate points

"IS HER MATCH IN OREGON!"—There resides in Lafayette, a lady, Mrs. ———, (familiarly known as Aunt Polly) who weighs three hundred and sixty-five pounds —Lafayette Courier.

Well, what of that? That is only one pound a day for one year. It would be interesting, however, to know whether the lady got her "start in Yamhill."

RESIGNED.—Mr J. T Wortley, Superintendent of the woolen mills at Oregon City, has resigned his position and is going East. He has been appointed agent to purchase machinery for the Jackson county mill, though his principal business is in connection with the double-twist spinner invented by himself and Mr. Hoyt of the Salem mills

FOLLOWER FOR THE FACT.—Some person, evidently of fine taste, sent down on the Senator, yesterday, a lot of fresh and beautiful bouquets, we presume as presents to the ladies at the Odd Fellows' ball. We noticed some last evening in the possession of ladies at the party, which looked marvellously like those brought by the Senator

RUMOR OF A FIRE.—A report reached the city yesterday that a fire which has been raging for two or three days in the timber of Powell's Valley had communicated with and destroyed the house, barn and fences of a Mr Roberts It was reported that other damage had been done to fences, etc, in the neighborhood

AN ADDRESS.—Mr. Geo. W. Wills will deliver an address before the Occidental Debating Club, of District No. 2, at the school-house about one mile from East Portland, on next Saturday evening Subject—Literary Societies The Club extends a cordial invitation to the public to attend on that occasion

THE HORSE RACE, YESTERDAY.—The race yesterday between W. R. Hill's mare "Kate Darling" and Gourley's mare "Dolly," single dash of half a mile for a purse of $175, was won by the former, by about fifteen feet, in fifty-nine seconds

LODGE TO BE INSTITUTED.—The Grand Lodge I O O F has granted the petition of nine Odd Fellows residing at East Portland for a charter for a lodge and it will probably be instituted and its officers installed on Saturday

MEETING OF ODD FELLOWS.—The members of Bannachan and Hassalo lodges, I. O. O. F., are requested to meet at their hall this evening at half past eight o'clock.

THE PIONEERS will meet for practice this afternoon at five o'clock.

THERE has been great excitement about a calico charity ball at Columbus, Mississippi. The pastors of the Presbyterian and Methodist Churches preached sermons against it, and they and the principal of a ladies' high school threatened expulsion for all who did go. The consequence was that some did not go, and that others resigned from the churches and took their girls away from the school.

PACIFIC SHIRTS.—Barman Bros., agents for the Pacific Shirt Manufactory, have received a large stock of them Measures for shirts taken and shirts made to order.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.—From and after this day the well-known FRENCH LAFAYETTE RESTAURANT will serve a first-class table at the reduced price of Seven Dollars per week.

THE RUSH FOR THE FAMILY DYE COLORS of Howe & Stevens is as great as ever. Once introduced to a family or neighborhood, and they spread like wildfire. The truth is, they are so nice to have about the house that every prudent and sensible matron will have them Howe & Stevens employ some one hundred hands to keep up to orders. Sold by Smith & David.

AN ANTIDOTE FOR POISON.

THE PAIN KILLER.—Rev T Allen, writing from Tavoy, Burmah, says: "Within the past four years I have used and dispensed of about five hundred bottles, but am now out. Please send me a fresh supply as soon as you can—any two hundred bottles. I dare not be without it myself, and there are endless calls for it, both by Burmans and Karens I always take it with me into the jungles, and have frequent occasion to use it, both on myself and others One night, while sleeping in an open Zayats, I was awoke by a most excruciating pain in my foot. On examination, I found I had been bitten by a centipede. I immediately applied the Pain Killer, and found instant relief. In less than an hour I was again asleep"

Rev. Mr Hibbard, writing from Burmah to his father, says: "I have used Davis' Pain Killer for coughs, colds, summer complaints, burns, and for the sting of scorpions, with uniform success. We always keep it where we can lay our hands on it in the dark, if need be" ap2ddlo

Take Heart

All day the stormy wind has blown
From off the dark and lofty main
No bird has past the quiet window
The only sign of life is rain
The cheerful bird will return

This is the summer's burial time
She has left us but a few of her earliest leaves
And o'er the autumn's lovely prime—
Yet I am not as one who grieves.

For well I know another year
The blue bird waits for April skies
And at the roots of forest trees
The Mayflowers sleep in fragrant ease
And violets hide their azure eyes

Oh storm by winds of grief o'erthrown
Beside some golden summer's blue
Take heart! Thy birds are only flown
Thy blossoms sleeping, careful sown
To greet thee in the immortal year!

Russian America

COMMUNICATION FROM PROFESSOR BAIRD, OF THE SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTE.

WASHINGTON, April 8, 1867.—The following is the substance of the information derived from Professor Baird, of the Smithsonian Institute with regard to Russian America.

The Professor has had two explorers in that field, between one and two years, who returned last autumn, bringing a complete collection of specimens of natural history from the entire region extending from the British possessions to the shores of the Polar sea.

The climate and temperature of the coast from Prince of Wales Island to the entrance of Behring Straits, during the winter months is about the same as at the city of Washington. There is little snow and much rain. During the summer months heavy fogs prevail.

The whole country, well up to the northern coast, is heavily timbered—chiefly hard pine forests, the same trees extending down to the very shores. Some of the islands also are heavily timbered with pine forests and dense undergrowth; others of them are destitute of timber, but covered with grass of luxuriant growth.

On the west coast the soil produces excellent barley and roots, such as radishes and turnips, and esculents, such as lettuce, cabbage, etc.

Furred animals, such as sea otter, river otter, sable, furred seal, mink, black, silver and red foxes are found in great numbers; red deer on the south and reindeer on the north.

Herring, salmon, halibut and codfish abound in exhaustless numbers. In Behring Straits and also to the northward great whales are very numerous.

Surface washings of gold have been discovered on the head waters of streams on the east side of the coast range of mountains.

The geographical developments are the same on the western slopes. Native coppers have been discovered in various places on the coast and in the vicinity of Cooper river. Iron ore of excellent quality, and believed to exist in exhaustless quantity, is now being smelted and worked by Russian artizans in repairing ships, etc.

Coal is found in large quantities and is used by the Russians for naval purposes. In quality it is similar to New Brunswick coal, but not equal to Cumberland coal. Recent discoveries have been made of what is believed to be a better quality of coal, though it has not yet been tested.

The population consists of five or six thousand Russians and fifty or sixty thousand Indians and Esquimaux. The Esquimaux inhabit the coast on the northern sea, and are industrious, peaceable and teachable. They live by hunting and fishing. The Indians inhabit the interior. They are peaceable and live by hunting, fishing and trapping.

LETTER FROM THE UNITED STATES CONSUL AT AMOOR RIVER.

NEW YORK, April 4, 1867.

To the Hon. Wm. H. Seward, Secretary of State of the United States: The many erroneous statements in the press of the day in regard to the country of Russian America, has induced me to lay before you a number of facts not generally known to the public, and which I trust may be valuable to the Department of State. In my investigations to determine the route of the Russian Amoorian telegraph, I sought the highest sources of knowledge in regard to the physical and topographical condition of the northwestern limb of our continent. As early as 1865, when I first visited St Petersburg, I embraced every opportunity to become acquainted with Russian officers and parties high in authority who were competent to enlighten me on the subject, and studied all the maps and books that could be found relating to it. Rear Admiral Fralgheim, now Governor of the Amoor country, and who held the office of Governor of Russian America for five years, has also given me much information. I have also had frequent conferences with the Governor and directors of the Russian American Company, from whom much has been learned. The boundaries and general outline have been so frequently and fully given that nothing need be said further as to the location of Russian America.

Commencing at 54 degrees 40 minutes north latitude on the Pacific, the main land is marked by a succession of islands to the Peninsula of Alaska, so that open boats or small river steamers can navigate safely between the islands and the main land. Many of these islands are covered with small timber, and the waters abound in fish. The coast of the main land is densely timbered, which fact was one of which induced the location of the Russian American telegraph to be made inland and east of the mountains.

The first river of any importance that enters the sea in Russian America is the Stickeen or St. Francis, in about 56 degrees of north latitude. This river has been followed by our exploring parties to the Cascades, where it breaks through the coast range of mountains dividing Russian America. This river is found navigable for boats fifty miles. After passing the Cascades it becomes navigable for some distance toward the Rocky Mountains. Game and fish are abundant, timber good, and gold mining has already been commenced by a party of Americans. Natives are quite numerous during the fishing season, but are reported friendly, and anxious to trade furs, etc., for merchandize. It is said that the prospect for gold on this river is equal to the old '49 days of California.

There are many small rivers as you ascend along the coast, and passes over the mountains into the British possessions, and parties of natives trade with the interior trade more to the north and east by following the source of these streams and thus arrive in the valley between the coast range and the Rocky Mountains. The next river of any importance is the Copper Mine, which enters the sea in view of Mount St. Elias, in about sixty degrees north latitude, and one hundred and forty-two degrees west longitude. The river is of importance in consequence of its location and the access it gives to the interior, as it unites by a lake the waters of the Yukon within Russian territory, giving almost uninterrupted navigation from the coast on the Pacific, by way of the Yukon and Koltchpek to Behring's Sea, thus giving easy access through a large part of the southwest limb of this country. Next comes Cook's Inlet and a river entering into it which the Russian American company use in connection with Koosequequim to reach the Knitchpek and Fort St. Michael.

After passing the peninsula of Alaska we find a considerable sized stream entering into Bristol bay. This stream, by a system of lakes, is said to connect with Cook's Inlet. Next in order comes the Koosequequim, a river of considerable magnitude and of importance to the country in giving access to the interior. This section of the country gives considerable trade to the Russian American Company, and to which they have trading stations.

The largest, most important and the chief and queen of all the rivers west of the Rocky Mountains and north of forty-nine degrees north latitude is the great Knitchpek, which enters into Behring's Sea between sixty four and sixty five degrees north latitude, by several mouths, and on the parallel of one hundred and sixty five degrees west longitude. This great river has an easterly course for some five degrees, then bends abruptly to the north some four degrees, thence nearly east to a point not far distant from the British frontier where it receives the Porcupine or Rat river from the northeast, and the Yukon from the southeast. The junction of these two rivers forms the Knitchpek. It is navigable to the sea, a distance of one thousand miles, for steamboats. This river had never been seen by white men in its whole course previous to explorations for the construction of the Russian-American telegraph; in fact, on many maps the Yukon was traced as an affluent of an imaginary river emptying into the Arctic Ocean, but our explorations have determined a great geographical fact, which places the Knitchpek at the head of all rivers on the northwest coast and giving Russian America the largest river north of forty nine degrees.

As we proceed north through Behring's Straits and enter the Arctic Ocean, we find Kotzebue Sound, which is fed by a considerable river, on which is a large population; here is found, like on the coast of Arctic Siberia, extensive deposits of animal remains, whose fossil ivory may become, as in Siberia, an article of valuable commerce.

Further east there are many bays and sounds, and beyond Point Barrow the Colville river enters Garrison Bay. The river has its main course to the south, and the natives report it navigable and, inhabited from a point not far from the northern bend of the Knitchpek to the sea.

Fort Yukon, the head station of the Hudson Bay Company west of the Rocky Mountains, is on Russian territory. This fact has not been established by Government survey, yet it is well known now to both Russia and England. No difficulty has grown out of it between the two Governments, because the Russian American Company and the Hudson Bay Company, who have enjoyed exclusive trade in these regions come to an understanding as to their mutual interests along the line of the disputed territory in order that there should be no conflict one way or the other among the natives. They were for peace along the boundaries and no doubt pursued a wise course.

Major Kennecutt chief of our exploring party, who died on the Knitchpek last year, had spent, some years previously, a winter at Fort Yukon. He describes the country as favorable to trade and of great importance to the Hudson Bay Company. He explored a large district of the country around the fort generally on foot. He entered the country on his first voyage by the Mackenzie river pass, returning the same way on the exploration of the route of the telegraph. He entered by the way of Fort St. Michael, near Behring's Straits. On the upper waters of the Knitchpek and upon the whole course of the Yukon, timber is plentiful, the country abounds in game and the rivers and lakes afford fish. Salmon ascend the Knitchpek in great numbers, and are largely taken by the natives for food both for themselves and their dogs during the winter. The natives are reported by Major Kennicutt and by employees of the Hudson Bay Company as peaceable and wonderfully honest, theft being rarely known among them. They are a vigorous, enterprising people, and very fond of foreign trade and merchandise, though the difficulty and cost of transportation by way of the Mackenzie river limits the supply to much below the demand.

Navigation by way of the Knitchpek would increase the trade and value of this country one hundred fold in a few years; in fact, the Knitchpek, with steam upon it, would reveal a new world to enterprise and adventure. By this stream the whole of a hitherto unknown country is brought within reach of steam communication with San Francisco, and when the stars and stripes shall flaunt at Fort Yukon, we may look for mines of gold and silver being discovered quite as rich as those further south. The furs of this country are wonderfully plentiful, and form a valuable and extensive commerce both to the Russian and British traders. That the Hudson Bay Company can afford to transport their merchandise and supplies overland from Hudson Bay, or by way of St Paul, and return their furs over the same route, is a startling evidence of the value of the trade, because transportation over this long route cannot cost less than one dollar per pound. With the Knitchpek open to steam navigation, ten cents a pound from San Francisco would pay enormously.

Upon the whole, Russian America, with its dependencies, the islands attached to it, is a valuable country in itself, viewed intrinsically. It is not such a country as Oregon or Washington in climate or soil, but it has, nevertheless, many sources of wealth.

In the southern part gold is known to exist. On Copper Mine river, whence its name, there is copper, though, as a matter of policy, the Russian American Company have not encouraged mining, because they fenced that mining, even if successful, would soon break up their monopoly of the fur trade, and open the country to the searching eyes of foreigners, and the demoralizing influence of cheaper goods and more lucrative employment to the natives.

The fisheries along the coast and islands will build up a population and commerce there which at no distant day will rival Newfoundland and the coast of the Atlantic, east of Cape Cod. The shoals and banks along the islands of Russian America are the resort of myriads of codfish unsurpassed for size and delicacy. Once give us a lodgment, these fishing towns will soon spring into existence, giving for our Pacific coast a nursery for first class seamen, which, in the growing commerce of the Pacific will be just what we want there in the future in order to give us the supremacy of that ocean. The fisheries alone are worth more to us than the whole cost of the country and will repay us in the future amply for the investment. The immense population of Asia and the islands of the Pacific will be good customers for our surplus fish, and will readily take all we have to spare. Timber for building purposes is abundant and convenient, saw mills will soon make the lumber trade a source of great profit, not only for domestic use, but for export to Asia and the more southern islands. Boat and ship building can be carried on profitably where good timber is so abundant and easily procured.

The acquisition is also valuable on account of several deposits of coal along the coast and Islands. At Codiac the Russian American Company have worked a coal vein for some years past, and have used it in their forges and workshops, as well as in their steamers employed in carrying on their commerce with California and Asia.

Nor is this country to be counted as nothing in an agricultural point of view. Wheat, barley and oats can be produced as far north as sixty degrees, gardens flourish along the coast in the Russian settlements, producing all the vegetables requisite for domestic use.

It must always be remembered that the Pacific coast is much warmer than the Atlantic coast of equal degrees. The isothermal line of Sitka (New Archangel) is equal to Newfoundland or St. Petersburg. That is about forty degrees to forty-five degrees of Fahrenheit; and the mean of the thermometer is ascertained to be forty-five degrees four minutes, winter, thirty-four degrees seven minutes; summer, fifty-six degrees two minutes.

Taking it then as a whole, the country of Russian America cannot be conceived, as some would have it, a dreary waste of glaciers, icebergs, white bears and walrus, and only fit for the Esquimaux and drinkers of train oil.

One more article of commerce must not be lost sight of: that is, ice. On the islands there are many fresh water lakes which afford an inexhaustible supply of very pure ice. The trade in ice so far has been conducted either by the Russian American Company or under their permit, consequently the ice trade has not been developed to any great extent. This trade in the hands of Americans would soon grow to wonderful proportions, for the reason that these lakes in Russian American supply the only ice suitable for shipment on the Pacific north of the equator. I did not mention in order, when speaking of the fisheries, that all the way north from Codiac to the Arctic whales are found in great abundance. Codiac and Bristol Bay are all whaling grounds, and many a New England town owes its wealth to the large catch of whales in Russian American waters. Walruses are as plentiful at and about Behring's Straits as blackberries are with us in August. With American fishing settlements along the coast the ivory and oil of these walruses will become no small source of wealth to our enterprising fishermen.

One more fact in regard to climate and temperature. Major Kennicutt died at the great east bend of the Knitchpek, five hundred miles by the course of the river from its entrance into Behring sea. The ice in the Knitchpek broke up on the 23d day of May, and on the 25th a portion of his companions embarked in native boats, taking with them Major Kennicutt's body, navigated the river to the sea without obstruction, and then coasted north seventy miles to Fort St Michael, a post of the Russian American Company. This proves a great deal as to the favorable temperature of that country, and makes the Knitchpek nearly as early as the St Lawrence in point of navigation.

I have the honor to be, very truly, your most humble servant,

P. McD COLLINS,
U. S. C. A., Amoor river.

The applications to the Supreme Court for injunctions restraining the execution of the reconstruction law, have not excited much comment at the East, being regarded as a harmless piece of buncombe. The N. Y. Herald gives these agitators the following advice, Southern men who now attempt to put obstruction in the way of Southern restoration under the laws of Congress are the worst enemies of the South. We regret to find such men still presuming upon the countenance and support of President Johnson. They have been to him a heavy and crippling load to carry, and he should cast them off without any further effort upon their part to place him in conflict with Congress. We would admonish the Southern people that such leaders as Sharkey and Walker, in behalf of State rights, are leading them in the old ruts of the rebellion, we would again remind those people that neither President Johnson nor the Supreme Court, if so inclined, can restore their States to a voice in Congress, but that this power rests exclusively in Congress itself and that the conditions imposed by this Fortieth Congress are fixed against all contingencies to the end of Mr Johnson term of office. Lastly, if the political leaders of the South wish to conciliate the North and raise up a powerful national party against the extreme radicals they must repudiate the factious movements and counsels of such purblind politicians as Sharkey and Walker, and follow the sound advice of such men as Generals Lee, Longstreet, Hampton Chalmers and others who have had enough of this old Calhoun theory of Southern rights, Dred Scott and State sovereignty.

Postoffice Business in the Last Century

Any Old Man has been furnishing the Cincinnati Times with a series of articles on old men and manners. The following extract will show how rapidly the country has advanced in postal affairs since the days of the Revolution.

Cincinnati was first settled in 1788 and during the first four years of its existence (it was then called Losantsville) there was no regular arrangement for carrying the mails. The few letters sent were mostly entrusted to the care of soldiers, coming to or going from Fort Washington the name of the military post at that place. In 1793 the town was deemed of sufficient importance to have a regularly established postoffice, and Abner Dunn, one of the earliest settlers of the place, was the first dignitary who had the honor of signing P. M. to his name. This was in 1794, and the postoffice occupied in small end of a candle box which he kept behind a whisky barrel in one corner of his store, for, be it remembered, he was not only P stmaster but a store keeper, "Squire," carpenter and a fiddler in addition thereto. Now, continues the Old Man, our merchants are quite angry if they do not get their letters in a little over thirty hours, while then it took more than twice that many days, the mail came and was sent only once a month, and even this was satisfactory to our "pioneer ancestors." They went on the idea that "part of a loaf was better than none," and had to rest contented. In those times the mail carriers had to be accompanied beyond "Fort Pitt," now the city of Pittsburg, by a squadron of horse, as the cavalry was then called, which made the sending of a letter rather expensive, the moderate sum of fifty cents for each half ounce being charged for postage to or from Philadelphia, and as the Old Man only got fifty cents a day for working, it is not probable that he sent very many letters concerning the sufferings of "Cupid."

Many times the Indians attacked the mails and escort and captured the mail bag. Only one incident is now fresh in my mind, however, and this occurred about the time that Col. Elliott was killed by the savages, out near Fort Hamilton. The Indians of various tribes were gathering from all quarters, to make the attempt to drive the white man from their hunting grounds, and there was no chance to send couriers out to notify mail carriers of the impossibility of getting into town. The latter, ignorant of the increased danger, arrived somewhere on the road between Chillicothe and Limestone (now Maysville) I think, about 23 miles from the latter town, when the fearful war whoop of the savages was heard and the attack commenced. How well the ambuscade succeeded is best told by saying that of a party of fifteen only one lived to return and tell the tale of the fate of the party. The mail bag was stolen, and the only trace ever gained of it was that at the treaty of Greenville, which took place in 1795, or soon after "Mad Anthony Wayne" reduced the "sour, lone Indian" to submission, two or three of the letters from the captured mail bag were given up, and a savage's narrative of how the affair occurred was told. Dunn did not fill the position of postmaster very long—perhaps because he would not support the President's policy—and was succeeded by William Maxwell, who was at the same time storekeeper, lawyer and editor of the first, and, at that time, only paper west of the mountains. Printers, like tinkers, are fond of strolling, and if traveling will prevent it, they never allow moss to grow under their feet, or fill their pockets either.

Maxwell went out West soon after the Revolutionary war, when the mail route was established between Philadelphia and Pittsburg. Jacob Craft, the first man upset or carrier on the route, died only a few weeks since at the advanced age of 99 years.

What wonderful history was made in that man's life time! When he was an infant Napoleon or Wellington was not born, there were no United States. Washington was unknown, the uses of steam for railroads and boats was not thought of. Many inventions have been discovered, and the political map of the earth greatly changed. But to our subject. Maxwell, like all the disciples of Faust, was determined to travel, and came to our city, where we find him pursuing his multifarious callings. For four some of Maxwell's grand children may now be occupying the position of fighting editor of some paper, or else member of Congress, and if the Old Man should say ought in disparagement of Ex-P. M., Maxwell, it will be only safe to say that, like all printers, he paid his debts, (don't laugh, typos), dressed well, drank freely of certain beverages considerably stronger than Adam's ale, and could outrun, or jump, or throw down any man in the settlement, and this was saying a great deal in his behalf, when you know that in those days a man was nowhere if he couldn't whip a grizzly bear.

Daniel Mayo, an old Revolutionary soldier, succeeded Maxwell and held the position for a few years, when he removed to Newport, Ky., and held the same office for many years. Maj. William Ruffin succeeded Mayo in 1797, and his greatest ambition was to see Cincinnati as populous and prosperous as Lexington, Ky., which, as he lived till 1831, he saw many times over. The Major's oldest son is still in the Postoffice at Cincinnati. The Major himself was removed from the office in 1811, and the appointment was given to the Rev. Judge William Burke, familiarly known as Father Burke, an eccentric old man, who could preach louder, longer, and better than any other minister who has ever been in the city. He went out West as a Methodist minister, but after some years he got tired of the itinerant system of that church, which he left, and started an independent one of his own in the city. He often got himself into "scrapes" by his peculiar and decided notions on church polity and politics.

While Postmaster, a young man was highly recommended to the Judge as a suitable person for a clerkship. The young man was very poor—in necessitous circumstances, the wolf at the door, and the Judge employed him. Some time after, complaints were continually made of valuable letters being purloined.

The old man kept his own counsel, but was on the alert to catch the thief, and at last, by means of a decoy letter traced it to this very clerk, in whose possession he found it and several other letters. He had taken one of the best young ladies in the city for his wife after he entered the Postoffice, and the old Judge was in a quandary, for he knew full well that an arrest would cause a public exposure, the ruin of the young man, and the blasting of all the hopes of joy which his innocent wife would experience. Calling the clerk into his back room, the old preacher said to the poor trembling fellow: "Young man, you have been detected in your thefts; and while I do not want to expose you and your wife to the ignominy of a public arrest, I cannot let you go un punished, and have concluded to chastize you myself." Suiting the action to the word, he drew forth a whip, which he applied without stint to the back of the erring clerk.

After he had given him what he thought necessary, he merely said, "Young man, you had better go to your post, as there may be persons waiting for their letters." This lesson was sufficient, the clerk had committed his first and last act of dishonesty, and was for many years afterward known as one of our very best citizens.

Judge Burke served as Postmaster longer than any of his predecessors or successors, and for several years after his removal he was in the Postoffice in some subordinate position. There have been nine incumbents of that office since Father Burke's removal, about 20 years ago.

GEOLOGICAL EXPEDITION.—The New York correspondent of the Sacramento Union says:

The Thirty ninth Congress, it will be remembered, made an appropriation for the survey of a strip 100 miles wide, with the fortieth parallel of the Pacific Railroad line as the center, extending from the Missouri river to the Sierra Nevada, for the purpose of ascertaining its accurate topography and geology. I perceive by a recent number of the Springfield Republican that the expedition is being organized and will start this season. They propose to begin on the Sierra Nevada and progress eastward. The geologist chosen for the work as I have mentioned is Professor King, formerly of Yale College, and well known in your State as one of the chief assistants of Whitney. J. T. Gardner another of Whitney's assistants, is to be associated with King, and a party of eight or ten scientific persons will be made up for the details of the work.
